

MB Calls On Arab Leaders To Support Palestinians, Unleash Liberties

In its statement, which Ikhwanweb received a copy of, on the occasion of the Arab summit in Qatar, the MB called on Arab rulers to revise the whole Arab scene and called for true Arab solidarity.

The MB also called on providing the desired support for Palestinians, activating the rebuilding of Gaza, and working towards achieving Palestinian conciliation especially after the failure of the settlement process which is colliding today with solid wall of the Israeli racist and extreme rightists, and standing by Sudan for the sake of its unity and advancement, and for the sake of Arab national security.

The statement also emphasized the importance of activating the many decisions of the previous Arab summits and tackling the true problems which led to the loss of unity, brotherhood, and our destined relationship with our nation that is based on one language, a deep-rooted civilization, common culture, and inter-connected and unified interests.

The statement also referred to what it described as an “atmosphere of worries, pains, and difficult and complex international and regional conditions at the political, security and economic levels,” a matter which makes this summit specially important and increases the burden of responsibilities on the shoulders of Arab leaders.

Moreover, the statement called on Arab leaders to support Palestinian resistance in the face of Zionist militias as well as to unleash liberties in all domains of life including politics, economics, culture, art, thought, and creativity.
