

Abdel-Maksoud : Thrilled for the freedom of any oppressed and we assert that discrimination amongst detainees is a crime.

We are thrilled for each oppressed who finally gets their freedom, and we never forget thousands more, who are yet in prison because of their opinions, their families denied their company and warmth in Ramadan and Eid Al Fitr.

We assert that discrimination against the detainees based on their political opinion or party affiliation is yet another crime on the regime's record.

The freedom of all Egyptians is set at the top of our priorities.
